What We Are Up To

This week, we will finish our study of different kinds of homes as well as our place on the Earth. We have also talked about how things were different in the past. Our trip to Ferry Farm highlighted a colonial home and how we know what things looked like a long time ago.

LEARNING IS FUN!

We had a great time reading different versions of "Stone Soup" and then cooking our own. Everyone enjoyed the feast which was topped off with pumpkin pie.

WHAT'S NEXT?

After Thanksgiving, we will do many activities based on the story of the gingerbread man. We will bake a gingerbread man, build a gingerbread house, and attend a gingerbread tea to see how George Washington celebrated the Holiday season.

Amy and I hope that each of you have a wonderful and safe Thanksgiving and a restful break. We are so thankful for your special children that you share with us each day.
