What We Are Up To

Last week, we talked about many different things having to do with weather. We learned about the different seasons, the importance of water including the water cycle, and identified different types of clouds. In addition, we read about Dr. Martin Luther King and Rosa Parks.

Pajama Day

On Friday, January 27, everyone may wear pajamas to school. We will be reading Green Eggs and Ham and then preparing breakfast complete with hot chocolate and donuts. Each child should bring a sleeping bag or a blanket, slippers or socks, and a stuffy or stuffed animal. Please pack everything in a bag of some sort so that he/she can easily get it home. Each child may also bring a board game to share with a friend. Please label your child's game with his/her name. Please do not send electronics. Also, remember to send your child's shoes and coat as well.

Looking Forward

We are looking forward to celebrating Groundhog Day, 100 Day and Valentine's Day in the near future.
